

Pacific Northwest is Number One!

#1

We all know the Pacific Northwest for its natural beauty and amazing people. But now we are being recognized for our Tennis!

The PNW ranks #1 in the country in participation growth at an average of 12% growth in the number of tennis players over the past five years.

We see it everyday here at the USTA PNW as more and more players flock to the courts for league play, RecTennis, lesson programming and just about anything involving tennis.

Are we seeing a tennis boom in the PNW? We don't see it as a boom, but more of a healthy and steady growth in participation where new players are being drawn to the sport for its health and social benefits. We also see a lot of players returning to tennis after years away from the courts. The best news of all is that we still have plenty of room for more players.

Want to join us for some tennis? Here is where you can find out more.

See you on the courts!
